Hello, I'm Susan, an Aussie who is home in Preston, United Kingdom. At Airmeith.Ltd, I offer a range of holistic services and unique hand-crafted goods designed to support your healing journey—whether mentally, emotionally, psychically, or physically.

My mission goes beyond healing; it's about empowering you with the knowledge to navigate life's challenges and "tweak" your reality to create more balance and clarity. When life doesn't seem to make sense, and things feel out of alignment, it's often a sign that there are deeper influences at play. I've been nurturing this business since 2016 with passion and dedication, offering energy healing and hand-crafted products worldwide.

There are no limits to what you can experience when you're open to healing and transformation in a way that your mind body and soul can make sense of. Not all modalities are for everyone, hence I work individually with you to understand your personal needs and the unique challenges you face in reaching your goals.

Thank you for taking the time to explore this information. I look forward to connecting with you further and helping you unlock your true and authentic potential.

Visit my website to explore services and products designed for empowering you in a way that reconnects you to your purpose, passion and vision in life.
